This modular concept combines an extremely stable steel frame construction with wood panels. The Atlantis modular concept consists of 7 individual desk elements that can be placed together to construct the desired complete reception desk.

Behind the 110 cm high front is an extremely comfortable work area with a depth of 80 cm and height of 75 cm. The Desktops are laminated in melamine with ABS edges, and a cable outlet. The reception desk fronts have glass panels with decorative stainless steel strips. For stability, side panels (Pos.8) are placed on both ends of your chosen reception desk concept. With corner reception desks (Pos. 7) there is only one side panel needed, as on one side a panel exists. For corner configurations, e.g. one corner unit (Pos. 7) is extended with an extension desk (Pos. 4) only one side panel is required.

With configurations where two corner units are utilized, one at each end, no side panel is required as the corner units have a side panel.

Optional extras consist of handbag shelves and an LED lighting strip, assembled beneath the desk-top. For additional storage space there is also a pedestal with three drawers. On these pages several examples are pictured of reception desk concept variations.
